THE DRYS LOSE OUT BY A HAIR

LIQUOR FORCES WIN FIRST ROUND

But Two Hearings Will Be Held
On the License Bill.

ADMISSION BY TICKET ONLY

Compromise Measure Expected, With
the Wets Having a Shade the Better of It—Administration's Anti-
Lobby Measure Goes Through Both Branches of the Assembly—Many Bills Introduced.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—Liquor forces won the first round of their fight when they practically persuaded
the joint house and senate committee
to conduct only two hearings on the license bill. These will be held Monday and Tuesday nights and admission will be by ticket only. Each solon will be allotted three tickets.
The limitation on the size of the audience is sought to prevent demonstrations.

Superintendent Wayne B. Wheeler
of the Anti-Saloon league appeared for the drys and Nicholas Dutle of Dayton for the wets. The temperance forces said two hearings were not enough. There is no expectation that either of the bills now proposed for license will be passed. A compromise measure is expected, and in this the liquor people are expected to have the best of it.

Anti-Lobby Bill In Favor.

Governor Cox got instantaneous action on his anti-lobby bill to put corrupt lobbyists in the penitentiary.
The bill was given its second reading
and referred to committees in both the senate and house. The bill provides that whatever person or concern employs a lobbyist shall, within a week, furnish the secretary of state with his name. The lobbyist also must register, giving the name of his employer and what legislation he is to work on. Fines and imprisonment
are provided for violations of the act.
As a rider the bill carried an emergency clause, exempting it from referral to popular vote.

Senator Potting of Akron stated
that his joint resolution for a special election next September to amend the constitution to allow municipalities to classify property for taxation and exempt from taxation any sort of property so classified, was a simon-pure home rule tax measure. Potting, a single-taxer, admitted the bill would allow cities to adopt single tax, but

SOLON FROM THE FAR WEST ON HOOKS

SENATOR WARREN'S COMPANY ACCUSED

Said to Have Made Unlawful Inclosures of Public Lands.

Washington, Jan. 16.—That the Warren Live Stock company, of which Senator Francis T. Warren of Wyoming is the head, was in 1906
maintaining unlawful inclosures of public lands in Wyoming and Colorado, was the substance of a report adopted by the house committee on expenditures in interior department.

The committee's conclusion was based on the complete file of inspection records, reports and correspondence procured from the interior department covering the investigation
that was made by the government in 1906 and 1907. These records showed that after a second inspection, made
by Assistant Attorney General Milton
D. Purdy at the request of President Roosevelt, Senator Warren's company
was exonerated of the illegal acts
which special agents of the interior
department had charged.

President-Elect Not Disturbed by Comment of Wall Street Writers
Who Attribute Depressed Condition
of the Market to His Recent Utterances—Senator Gore On His Bill Increasing Membership of High Court.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 16.—Governor
Wilson appeared not to be greatly concerned when he was shown the comments of Wall street writers, who attributed the depressed condition of the market to his recent utterances at Chicago and in Trenton. He has frequently remarked that those who are now expressing surprise at the attitude he takes toward various industrial and commercial questions, can not have read carefully the speeches
which he made before his nomination
and during the campaign.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma and Senator-elect Ollie James, who visited the governor, did not hesitate to express their opinions as to how far Mr.
Wilson's remarks have been responsible for the Wall street flurry.

"President-elect Wilson's administration," said Senator Gore, "will not offer any just occasion for alarm.
There is no enemy of prosperity in this country excepting the prophets of panics. Nobody has any occasion to fear the administration of Governor Wilson that does not fear the administration of justice."

"The Democrats are in control of congress," said Mr. James, "and if anybody starts a panic we will appoint an investigating committee and find out who is responsible for it.
There is absolutely no reason for any panic."

When the governor's attention was called to the statement of Mr. James he laughed and said: "Then they could find out by the investigation
whether I was responsible or not."
Senator Gore was asked if Governor Wilson favored his bill, introduced Tuesday, providing for an increase in the membership of the supreme court from 9 to 11. "That bill,"
said the senator, "was offered by my own motion. My reason for offering the bill is that justice delayed is justice denied. There are 850 cases on the supreme court docket now. If the court should hand down two opinions
a day, Sundays included, it would require two years to finish the docket,
provided no new cases came up."

THIRTY THOUSAND GIRLS JOIN STRIKE

Pickets Appointed to Wage War Against White Slavers.

New York, Jan. 16.—Following the strike order issued by the executive officers of the International ladies' garment workers' union, the members of the ladies' waist and dressmakers'
union went on strike in the shops and factories throughout the city. Nine-tenths of the strikers are girls. The estimates of the number who quit ranged all the way from 30,000 to 40,000.

Miss Gertrude Barnum, of the women's trade union league made public a letter sent to Mayor Gaynor
by some of the organizers of the various unions of which the strikers are members, asking protection for the girl strikers from men and youths "of evil faces and evil intent" who, she said, invaded the halls where the strikers met.

Among those taking an active part in the strikes of the women are Mrs.
Rose Pastor Stokes, Miss Maud
Younger and Mrs. Younger and Mrs.
John Elliott. Mrs. Stokes addressed a meeting of buttonhole workers and will act with a committee of the pickets in waging a war against the efforts of the white slavers to reach the girl strikers.

New Court In Sight

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate
devoted most of the session to consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. Among the amendments agreed to was one appropriating money to continue the commerce court, which was adopted by a vote of 33 to 20. The house had made no provision for continuing the work of the court.

Pujo Probers Vote to Require
Him to Give Testimony.

TIME AND PLACE NOT YET FIXED

Committee's Specialist, Who Examined the Multimillionaire, Gave It
as His Opinion That Rockefeller Might Be Subjected to a Short Examination Without Endangering
His Life.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The Pujo investigating committee of the house
has decided to insist on William Rockefeller submitting to an examination by the committee's counsel.
By a division of 7 to 1 the committee voted to excuse Mr. Rockefeller from appearing before the full committee
at its hearings in Washington, but to require him to give testimony at such time and place as later may be agreed upon.

This action of the committee followed the presentation before the committee of the views of Dr. Charles W. Richardson, a Washington throat specialist, who had been sent by the committee to Florida to examine Mr.
Rockefeller. Dr. Richardson's report seemed to be somewhat confusing. At one time he agreed with Mr. Rockefeller's own physician that the bringing of the patient before the committee might result in some other development which would obstruct his breathing. He acknowledged also that it was impossible to say whether an examination would ultimately result in serious harm. He finally gave it as his opinion, however, that Mr.
Rockefeller might be subjected to a short examination without endangering
his life.

In examining Albert C. Burrage of Boston, a director of the Amalgamated Copper company, Mr. Untermyer disclosed what the chief purpose of the pursuit of William Rockefeller has been. Mr. Untermyer contended that insiders, including Mr. Rockefeller and the late H. H. Rogers, made as much as $75,000,000 or $100,000,000
through the organization of the Amalgamated and subsequently through the sale of properties to that company. Burrage would not deny that he had received as much as $5,000,000
as his share of the profits from the sale of the companies that originally went into the Amalgamated.

George W. Perkins was the only other witness of the session. He was evasive when it came to the question
as to whether or not the present concentration of banking resources and credit constitute a peril to the country.

In a lengthy dissertation of economics, Perkins took the position
that, after concentration had progressed to a certain point, it should be subject to government regulation.

Money To Burn

Sandusky, O., Jan. 16.—The intercity board of Perry's victory centennial celebration commissioners concluded a rather strenuous session
here, after awarding contracts for pageantry to the Paine Fireworks and Display company of Chicago and for decorations and courts of honor to William Peck, Sons & Company, Cincinnati. The former's bid was $61, 724 and the latter's $53,276. These were the lowest among 26 in each instance.

BACK ACROSS THE POND FOR HIS

CASTRO HELD UNFIT TO ENTER COUNTRY

Attorneys to Appeal to Department of Commerce and Labor.

New York, Jan. 16.—General Cipri-
ano Castro, former boss of Venezuela,
was declared unfit to enter the United States by a board of special inquiry that has been considering his case for the last several days.

The little general was not permitted to have counsel at the examination and he was a reluctant witness against himself; in fact, his inquisitors say that he committed perjury in his testimony. He appeared to be little affected by the decision after it had been translated into Spanish and read to him. He has been aware that the law firm of O'Gorman, Battle &
Marshall is looking after his interests and that they will appeal to Washington to have the order of the board reversed.

After reading the decision Mr. Content of O'Gorman, Battle & Marshall said: "Mr. Battle, Mr. Marshall and I will appeal to the secretary of commerce and labor. It looks to me as if our immigration laws have been used as a pretext for keeping Castro
out of this country."

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Hope or immediate release for President Frank M.
Ryan of the Structural Iron Workers' union vanished when District Attorney Miller of Indianapolis was sustained by the circuit court of appeals
in his contention that the property scheduled on Ryan's $70,000 bond was insufficient.

LOSE BARONETCY TITLES.

Heralds' College Committee Finds
Twenty-five Using Them Illegally.
London.—The committee of the Royal College of Heralds, appointed to draw up an official roll of baronets,
has finished its task, and the complete list of "recognized" baronets is promised shortly.

It is declared that twenty-five persons styling themselves baronets have no right to this title. Some, but not all, have figured in the unofficial lists,
and should any take exception to the omission of their names the burden of proof will rest upon them to demonstrate their right to the title.

So carefully has the committee worked that it is not expected that the claims of unrecognized persons will be seriously contested.

As a matter of experience it has been found that the bogus baronets lie very low whenever it comes to the question
of pressing their claims too closely.
Hitherto there has been no official list
of baronets, and any one who cared to call himself one had every opportunity to do so.

BUCKEYE STATE HAPPENINGS

Ordered to Produce Kirkby.
Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—Prosecutor
Turner has notified Charles H. Bancroft, the bonding agent who furnished the $10,000 bond of William Kirkby, Toledo lobbyist, to produce Kirkby in court for his plea. The prosecutor's office is not nervous as to the whereabouts of Kirkby, but merely want him to observe the requirements of the law and receive copies of the indictments against him, and plead "guilty" or "not guilty," as he chooses. His trial will not be held before the latter part of February or the first of March.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—Centraliza-

United States; P. P. Claxton of Washington, D. C., commissioner of the nection with the annual meeting of the Ohio state board of agriculture.

coldly facing two revolvers, the operator telegraphed a warning to the office. Erie engines took out police and detectives, but too late to catch the men. The men wanted to make Brady set the signals to stop the late train.

Divorce Epidemic in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 16.—Common pleas judges here are unable to account for the record-breaking number of divorce suits which have been filed and brought to trial recently. Twenty-four divorces were granted yesterday, making a total of 118 granted in the last four days. Most of the petitions allege cruelty and abuse, and the majority of them are uncontested.

allegations that the last Ashland

Spring, who while raiding a keg party shot Clyde Ebert, who subsequently died.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—William Boettcher, who was shot by Patrol-wound. The coroner is investigating.

It is alleged that the young man refused to halt when ordered to do so by the officer, after he had been pointed out as a holdup artist.

SUIT FOR $10,000 DAMAGES IS FILED AGAINST D. T. & I.

Death of Robert T. Steele on 5th of Last October Is Made Cause for Heavy Damage Suit.

CLAIMS DEATH WAS DUE TO NEGLIGENCE OF TRAINMEN

Action Filed By Pope Gregg as Administrator of Estate of the Deceased--Widow and Child Left in Destitute Circumstances--Unusual Case Recalled.

The D. T. & I. railroad has been made defendant in a suit for $10,000 damages, as a result of the death on the 5th of last October, of Robert T. Steele, whose dead body was found lying face downward in the grass near the platform at Hagler's station, four miles north of this city.

Pope Gregg, as administrator of the estate of Robert T. Steele, filed the action in Common Pleas court late Wednesday afternoon, naming George P. Johnson, receiver of the D. T. & I., as defendant.

The petition states that on the 5th of October, 1912, Robert Steele became a passenger on the D. T. & I. passenger train due here at eight o'clock, buying a ticket from Springfield to Hagler's station, and that while on the train between Jeffersonville and Hagler's he became very sick and ailing, the nature of his illness not being known.

Plaintiff further states that when the train arrived at Hagler's station Steele was unconscious and unable to walk, or assist himself in any way, and that the conductor and brakeman knew his condition, but notwithstanding they seized him in a rough and violent manner, carrying and dragging him from the car to the ground, handling him roughly, carelessly and negligently, causing abrasures on one leg.

The plaintiff further alleges that the men threw Steele in the grass near the platform, and left him upon his face, in which position he died. That the night was cold and frosty and that by reason of the rough treatment given him in his weak condition, and the exposure due to the negligence of the defendant's servants, could not breathe properly and death followed.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that it was the duty of the defendant, when the man was found to be ill to care for him in a proper manner, and not leave him at the roadside. And that the widow of the deceased, Rose Steele and her child, who is two years of age, were dependent upon the deceased for their support, and because of the death of the husband and father, have been damaged in the sum of $10,000, for which amount he asks judgment. Mrs. Steele is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt of Eber.

Class Plans Delightful Surprise

Mrs. D. H. Rowe's Sunday school class of 85 young matrons and girls planned and carried out a most delightful surprise for their teacher Wednesday night, in the social parlors of Grace church.

Mrs. Rowe's class is a very unusual one, both in size and caliber, and as devoted to their teacher as she is to them. No one could have had the wool more tightly pulled over their eyes and Mrs. Rowe responded to Rev. Ross' invitation to come over to the church to discuss a little church business without a suspicion.

As she entered the parlors, the girls, lined up in two long rows, gave eager greetings, but even then realization only came when Rev. Ross and Dr. Rowe came to the rescue.

The evening proved one of the most thoroughly pleasurable ever held in the church parlors.

Miss Luella Riley, in behalf of the class, made a very happy little speech introducing the organization of the class, its history and personnel with much cleverness. The class presented Mrs. Rowe with a purse, the money to be used as the foundation of a flower mission fund, to provide cheer for the sick. Mrs. Rowe was also presented with a handsome cut glass dish.

Dainty refreshments added to the evening's sociability.

Mrs. Rowe could hardly find words adequate to fully express her great appreciation of her surprise party.

Joseph McVay Dies Suddenly

Once more the death angel has brought trouble in suddenly appalling fashion to the family of Dr. L. M. McFadden, and Mrs. McFadden has been called to Blanchester by the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. Joseph McVay.

Mr. and Mrs. McVay came up from their home two miles from Blanchester on last Saturday morning and were the guests of Mrs. McFadden while attending to some business connected with the estate of Mr. Luttrell, brother of Mrs. McFadden and Mrs. McVay, who was recently killed in Texas.

Mr. McVay returned home Saturday evening, leaving his wife to visit with her sister, Mr. Sunday. Mrs. McVay returned Monday evening, her two daughters attending school in Blanchester, waiting to drive her home.

Upon reaching home they found Mr. McVay dead. He had been the picture of health and the shock to his family is prostrating.

Funeral services were held in Blanchester Thursday afternoon and the remains will be taken to Leesburg Friday morning for burial.

A large family connection and many friends in Fayette county sympathize deeply with the bereaved family.

Mrs. McFadden, daughter, Miss Doris and son, Robert, are in Blanchester and will go to Leesburg for the burial.

Dr. McFadden is still in Texas.

Young Burglar Will Be Tried

Carl Mann, the boy who, in company with Homer Bethards, entered the Dice-Mark store one night last week and robbed it of two revolvers, pocket knives and cartridges, will face Judge Patton tomorrow on the charge of burglary, and a long term in the Boys' Industrial school stares him in the face.

The lad has been notoriously troublesome in police circles, and was bound over to the Probate Court from the Mayor's court. The Bethard boy was released pending his good behavior, as the evidence showed that the Mann lad had planned the burglary and did most of the work.

Leaves Jail To Marry Girl

Noble Greenwalt, 18, porter, and Mae Taylor, 19, secured a marriage license late Wednesday afternoon and were united in marriage by Mayor Smith, the wedding taking place in the Probate court office in the presence of a number of court house attaches.

Greenwalt had been arrested upon an affidavit filed by the Taylor girl, and has been confined in the county jail awaiting trial. The marriage took place without the attorneys interested in the case knowing of it until after the ceremony had occurred. The affair was somewhat out of the ordinary.

Captures Live Cabbage "Snake"

Vincent Miley has ceased to be a lover of cabbage in the many ways in which it can be prepared. And it is all due to the discovery of a live cabbage "snake" in a head of cabbage Wednesday evening.

Mr. Miley has been carrying the "snake" about, securely wrapped in a cabbage leaf, and to those who did not believe such a thing existed, he quickly convinced them by opening the leaf and permitting them to examine the reptile.

The "snake" is some 14 inches in length, as near as could be estimated, as the snake was rolled into a ball. It was about as thick as an ordinary hat pin and of a glossy pearl color. Mr. Vincent found the snake between the leaves of a head of cabbage.

In every respect it resembled a horse-hair snake except in color.

Anderson-Creamer Case Opens Today

Common Pleas court convened Thursday morning, the jury was chosen and the case of Dora Anderson against A. R. Creamer, executor of the last will and testament of Emma Weaver, deceased, was taken up.

In the case Humphrey Jones represents the plaintiff and Creamer, Creamer & Thompson represents the defendant. The plaintiff brought suit for $1186, which she claims is due her for services rendered the deceased Emma Weaver.

SOME VIEWS ON DIETS.

The only trouble with the 20-cent-a-day fare, such as that laid out by the Boston expert as a solution of the cost of living problem, is that the human body is not a chemical test tube. If it were it might take its carbohydrates, proteins and the rest of the chemical material that science says it requires in the form of mush, oleo-margarine, smoked herring and cocoa shells and milk, or of chopped hay and silage, for that matter, without any variation from day to day. But although it is common to speak of food as the fuel of the body, the body will not accept a certain chemically sufficient diet unvaried from day to day as a furnace will accept coal day in and day out.

A human being defies chemical analysis. The chemists have never been able to put together the various chemical elements that enter into a living organism in one of their reports and combine them so as to produce that organism or any other living thing. The synthesis is beyond them. In a similar way there is more to nutrition than the mere just proportion of chemical elements.

The only man who can thrive on model cheap meals or on nuts and raw turnips is the food faddist, and he finds in the very eccentricity of his diet the pleasure that the ordinary man gets from the flavor of a varied diet, from porterhouse steak and all the delicacies in season. The man who is proving by his practice that peanuts are the one perfect food has a mental sauce for his peanuts that the man cannot obtain who can afford to eat nothing but peanuts.

Many men make more money than their fathers did, but feel poorer, because they are not willing to live as their fathers did.

Sanguine Hopes For Federal Building

Congressman J. D. Post returned to Washington, D. C., Thursday morning.

Mr. Post expressed himself confident that the Government Building Appropriation bill, carrying with it appropriations for a government building for Washington C. H., would be reported out favorably by the committee and passed by the House within the next few weeks.

Fifteen Days Of Parcel Post

The first fifteen days of the parcels post has witnessed a material increase in the amount of fourth class matter sent through the local post-office, and the number of parcels handled is on the increase.

The novelty of sending parcels has worn off, and the public has settled down to business, realizing that it is no plaything. Everything from eggs to a pitchfork has been sent through the local office, and many hundreds of packages which would have gone by express if the parcels post system had not been in existence, have passed through the local postoffice.

It requires two or three hours' work for a sub-carrier to deliver the parcels in this city each day.

City Property Changes Hands

Among the real estate changes in this city recently, are some of more than passing interest made by C. A. Cave.

Recorder Tolen E. Brown disposed of his residence on South Fayette street, to J. E. Todhunter, who will move into the city from his farm, and will take possession about the middle of next month.

Mr. Brown then purchased the J. H. Anderson, two-story modern home on the corner of Forest and Market street, and will move there next month, while Mr. Anderson will move into the George C. Haynes two-story brick residence on Temple street, which he purchased.

The two-story residence property of Mrs. Eva Engle, in Millwood, was sold to Margaret Hurtt, who will move into her new property soon.

Entertains S. S. Class

The fifteen boys of Mr. George Bryan's Sunday school class were indebted to their teacher for a royal good time Wednesday night, in the basement of the church. Each boy brought a girl and the evening was a merry round of games and fun.

This class is organized into the B. C. B. club and decorations were its colors of red and white.

A tempting luncheon was served. Assisting Mr. Bryan in the hospitalities were Miss Daisy Cockerill and Miss Ethel Calvert.

MURDER BY "MERCY TABLETS."

Nothing is easier than to make out a plausible case for Dr. David O. Hudson of Missouri and his "mercy-tablet" plan for the elimination of idiots and the incurably insane. One has but to enlarge with righteous eloquence upon the opening of a door of escape from hopeless ills and sufferings. The point would be ignored that a door would be opened widely also of opportunity cunningly to commit capital crimes.

Dr. Hudson talks glibly of confining the lawful use of prussic-acid poisons to patients "bereft of all human instinct" and confined in poorhouses and asylums. To propose such limitations upon the power legally to kill and to make sure that the limits shall be invariably respected are two matters separated by many degrees of difficulty. This separation will endure so long as the world holds persons who out of revenge, jealousy, greed or other motive of self-interest are willing to commit murder.

Trust in Dr. Hudson's revival of paganism is forbidden by the untrustworthy elements of the very society whose relief is sought. No scheme of "merciful" execution has yet been suggested which would not involve inevitably an enlarged field for murderers.

The total product of wealth produced by a genius who works for the public good is so much added to the common stock without injury or injustice to any one.

APPEAL FOR INDIANS MADE BY VALENTINE

Urges New Laws to Protect Rights and Health.

Washington.—A strong argument for the improvement and relief of the Indian charges of the government is made in the annual report of the commissioner of Indian affairs to the secretary of the interior for the year 1912 just made public.

The report is made by Robert G. Valentine, who recently resigned the office of commissioner. In it a plea is made for legislation along the lines selected by President Taft, especially for larger appropriations with which to improve the health of and reduce the almost appalling death rate among the Indians.

A feature of the report is a description of the extensive property of the Indians, which constitutes one of the greatest estates ever held in trust by any organization or government. Including the land, forests, water power, minerals and funds held in tribal or individual ownership, the principal of the Indians amounts to approximately three-quarters of a billion dollars, the interest and rentals on which amount to approximately $12,000,000.

The commissioner declares that educational opportunities must be taken to Indian children who are not yet in school. Industrial impulse and opportunity must be given to those who do not now value their possessions. They must have effective protection in their property and personal rights, medical attention and hygienic instruction. Thousands of Indian families must be provided with sanitary homes.

He urges an appropriation of $250,000, as advocated by the president in his special message, for the Indian medical service. He reiterates statements presented to congress by the president that the death rate among the Indians is 160 per cent of that among all other classes and that the mortality from tuberculosis is three and one-half times as great.

The Danger.

A lawyer while conducting his case cited the authority of a doctor of law yet alive. "My learned friend," interrupted the judge, "you should never go upon the authority of any save that of the dead. The living may change their minds."—Nos Loisirs.

Fox Farming Is Increasing

Some years ago a Canadian farmer named Lamb was hunting strayed cattle in the woods when he found two silver fox pups, a male and a female, in a hollow log. He contrived to carry them home, and swapped them with a neighbor for a cow and a few dollars to boot.

The neighbor experimented for several years with various kinds of pens and treatment, but finally became discouraged and sold the foxes for $80 to another neighbor, who also was no more successful than the last owner.

This second man gave over his experiment to a third man, who lived on an island in Cascumpee Bay. The quiet of the new place, the interesting tameness of the foxes and the intelligence of the new keeper produced conditions that relieved Mrs. Reynard's nervous apprehension for her young's safety, and three pups were reared to maturity in two seasons.

This success, the result of eight years experimentation, gave a strong impulse to a brand-new industry. Farmers have not many new industries to turn to nowadays, and this one began 'n earnest. About six men possessed a knowledge of the fine art of rearing foxes in captivity, and jealousy guarded their secret until 1910. Up to that time no live foxes were sold except some light "silver" to distant places.

Now that the secret is out fox farms are springing up in Canada in all directions and hence it would seem that the production of costly fur is only a problem for the animal husbandman. Perhaps the day will soon come when books of fox, marten, otter and mink pedigrees will be published. One fox farm recently visited on the banks of the St. Lawrence contained 18 animals, for which the owner demanded $75,000.—The Strand.

A STARTLING THEORY.

And now comes Professor O'Shea, of the University of Wisconsin, with the statement that every home should provide for savage as well as civilized life. "The most aesthetic and intellectual persons," says the professor, "are those who in early life were the wildest children."

He cites the cat, and declares it only plays because its ancestors hunted for a living. So, he asserts, it is with the child. "He loves dirt and fighting. He is a brute as far as his instincts go, and unless he be allowed to develop his savage tendencies at an early age the finer instincts, which do not grow until later, will not develop to their best."

A glance through the childhood days of some of our greatest men seems to bear out the professor in his statement.

The practice of cutting the claws of the more ferocious animals of the London zoological garden has recently been greatly facilitated by chloroform being used. Heretofore it was done by sheer force by a squad of men, the animal being first secured by ropes.

CLUB NEWS

The first meeting of the new year by the Ladies' Missionary society of the Presbyterian church at the church, Wednesday afternoon, was full of interest. Despite the rain there was a very large attendance.

Mrs. S. D. Morgan was down from Columbus to fill her place as president.

After the regular business, Mrs. Morgan read an exceedingly interesting and practical paper on "Home Missions Financed; Measuring the Demand, Increasing the Supply and Conserving the Results." She interspersed a number of Billy Sunday's well taken points and every one carried with it a helpful force to the hearers.

Mrs. M. E. Hitchcock treated the topic, "China's New Day," that country which for milleniums has had her face turned towards the past; her literature, government and social life all defying the past and subordinating the present. Now comes the most wonderful intellectual revolution the world has ever seen. Kuang Hsu has carried out this wonderful beginning in his edicts of reform, the most important being the one ordering a Board of Education established with a university at Peking. The next 20 years will be of critical importance and needs the Christian world to help China into the line of her privileges.

Miss Kathleen Davis played a pretty piano solo and the afternoon session closed with an enjoyable social hour and refreshments.

The entertaining hostesses were Mesdames Page, Grove, Ervin, Bailey, Duffee, Zaner, Slagle, Chas. Persinger, C. L. Craig.

Hartman Theater

"THE ROSE MAID."

The story of "The Rose Maid," which begins a week's engagement at the Hartman theater, Columbus, the night of January 20, is a pretty romance as well as a satire on foreign titled paupers who plan to sell themselves to rich American girls in order to recoup their expended fortunes.

In the story of the play the youthful Duke of Barchester is a noble spendthrift, whose debts amount to a million. A half dozen heiresses are ready to take him when the little rose girl steps in and complicates matters. A coterie of money lenders figure as the comedians, the comedy being based on their efforts to marry the duke to a wealthy American girl.

The cast of "The Rose Maid" is headed by the petite Hungarian actress Mizzi Hajos and includes Edith Decker, Al Shean, R. E. Graham, Vincent Sullivan, Oscar Ragland, May Emory and Millie Murray.

There will be matinee performances of "The Rose Maid" Wednesday and Saturday.

Brings Burglar Here for Trial

Chief of Police McCoy returned Wednesday evening with W. A. Roberts, colored, who had been held in Columbus to answer to the charge of burglarizing the Dice-Mark store recently.

Frank Wilson, who assisted Roberts in the robbery here, was held by the Columbus police to answer to a charge of burglary in that city, but it is thought he will be turned over to the local authorities within the next few days.

Roberts was placed in the county jail to await his preliminary hearing.

WIRELESS AT HARVARD.

Harvard students, presumably of the Lawrence Scientific School, have organized a wireless telegraph company and are now operating five wireless stations. According to the Electrical World, the company is a commercial concern, intended to supply the wireless needs of the professors and undergraduates. But just now its officials are chiefly occupied in testing interference eliminators. Indeed, they claim to have so far perfected their instruments that this defect in the operation of ordinary wireless lines is not present in the Harvard service. This seems rather an effective method of teaching the new science of wireless telegraphy, which is, we take it, the real purpose of the Harvard company.

FOOD FOR NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

The all too common name of neurasthenia is a term used to describe a peculiar form of disease sometimes spoken of as nervous exhaustion, which in these days of excessive activity, worry, overstrain and fear of appearances is only too frequent, both among men and women. Its most common symptoms are constant feeling of weariness and fatigue, mental depression and crossness, failure of appetite, with all sorts of vague, uncertain dyspeptic discomforts, and generally sleeplessness. The treatment is a combination of rest, with proper food, but most authorities agree that the feeding is the most important part of the treatment.

The Herald's Latest Feature Tremendous Stride Forward

Through arrangements just concluded the WASHINGTON DAILY HERALD will receive by wire each evening the close of the day's markets and will publish the live stock and grain markets later than any foreign afternoon paper coming into this county, and as late as market reports published in any paper the following morning.

The value of this absolutely reliable late market report daily to the people of Fayette county cannot be overestimated. It means that every day the farmer will have in his own local daily paper the very latest authentic market reports, both local and foreign.

The demand for this feature has been one of long standing, and the difficulties in the pathway of the Herald's determination to give the readers the latest and best in markets as in news service were not easy to remove.

Persistency and determination to secure this valuable feature, however, finally won the day and the Herald is proud indeed of the success of its effort.

Because the addition of this market feature means so much of good to Herald readers, it means much to The Herald.

BLACK OUTLOOK.

The war cloud in the near East refuses absolutely to clear away. Since early in December the allied states and Turkey have been seeking at the London peace conference to agree upon terms that will end the struggle which has proven so costly in lives and property to the nation engaged.

There has scarcely been a day since the peace conference was finally entered upon that the allies have not threatened to renew hostilities, but never before, judging from the late news dispatches has the conference been so near dissolution without an agreement for permanent peace, as it is at this time.

The failure to agree if failure results from the conference may be laid directly at the door of European powers anxious to acquire more territory and jealous of any advantage being secured by either the larger European powers or the petty Balkan states.

The tremendous national debt of Turkey, owing to the great financiers of Europe, is another stumbling block in the road to permanent peace. The holders of this great debt insist that Turkey's resources must not be depleted.

On the other hand the Balkan states, and they are reinforced by some of the "powers" in their position, are insisting upon liberal concessions by the humbled Turks and refuse point blank to consent to peace terms which do not more than reimburse them for the awful cost of the war.

Altogether the outlook for peace is a gloomy one at this time. The bright skies which promised so much for permanent peace in the near East only a few weeks ago are now overcast by the black clouds of discord and the near approach of war.

The horrors of a winter war in the Balkan states will far overshadow all the suffering which has so far been endured by a people not able to carry on a war.

The hope of the little Balkan states was to push the war to a conclusion as rapidly as possible. If they could win against the "terrible Turks" they realized that they must fight hard and fast. They did that very thing and carried the surprised Turks literally off their feet and had the Ottoman empire begging for peace.

The achievements of a great campaign are now jeopardized by meddling European powers and the final outcome of hostilities if they are resumed is a much more doubtful matter than it was before the peace conference was called.

If the Balkan states lose now, it will be the jealousy of the larger European nations which will conquer them, not Turkey.

BLESSED be the peacemaker" so long as he confines his efforts to the avoiding of bloodshed, but we cannot thank him who allows his utopian dreams to advise the STRIPPING OF OUR NATION TO HELPLESSNESS AND TURNING US OUT INTO THE SOCIETY OF WOLVES WHO CONSTITUTE THE WORLD'S POWERS OF TODAY. We thank the friend who takes the robber from our throats, but no thanks to him who says: "Remove the chains from our doors. There are no robbers." Pity it is that the time for universal peace has not arrived, but WOE to the nation that thinks it has and TRUSTS itself to the mercy of its neighbors.

Great progress has been made in arbitration for the settlement of small differences, but point to me instances where a great difference has been settled by arbitration or where war has been averted by it.

Since the establishment of The Hague court we have seen some of the greatest wars that have ever made the world run red with blood, and probably as many men have died in war during the existence of this court as during any equal period.

OUR BEST SAFEGUARD AGAINST WAR IS THAT PREPAREDNESS WHICH MAKES WAR SO COSTLY TO AN ENEMY THAT HE DARE NOT ATTACK US. WE ARE LIKE A GREAT GIANT—HIS MAW FILLED WITH THE GOODS THAT WEALTH PROVIDES—SLEEPING AND AWAITING SOME SMALL JACK TO CUT THE BEAN STALK OF OUR FANCIED SECURITY FROM UNDER US.

Work Is Most Interesting Thing In the World

By WILLIAM LOWE BRYAN, President of Indiana University

WORK IS THE MOST INTERESTING THING IN THE WORLD. The first mistake in this life is the tramp, who carries into manhood the boy habit of QUITTING WHEN HE FEELS LIKE IT, and the second mistake is the jack of all trades. The failures in life are nearly all men who can DO MANY THINGS TOLERABLY WELL.

No real progress can be made in any great undertaking without the tuition of the past. One of the rewards which come of work is the experience and growth of DISCRIMINATING JUDGMENT.

Poetry For Today

INDIRECTION.

Fair are the flowers and the children
but their subtle suggestion is fairer;
Rare is the rosebud of dawn, but
the secret that clasps it is rarer;
Sweet the exultance of song, but the strain that precedes it is sweeter;
meter.
And never was poem yet writ, but
the meaning outmastered the mete.

Never a daisy that grows but a mystery guideth the grower;
Never a river that flows, but a majesty scepters the flowing;
Never a Shakespeare that soared,
but a stronger than he did unfold
him,
Nor ever a prophet foretells, but a
mightier seers hath foretold him.

Back of the canvas that throbs, the painter is hinted and hidden;
Into the statue that breathes the soul
of the sculptor is hidden;
Under the joy that is felt lie the infinite issues of feeling;
Crowning the glory revealed is the story that crowns the revealing.

Great are the symbols of being, but
that which is symbolized is greater;
Vast the create and beheld, but
vaster the inward creator;
Back of the sound broods the silence,
back of the gift stands the giving;
Back of the hand that receives thrill
the sensitive nerves of receiving.

Space is as nothing to spirit, the
deed is outdone by the doing;
The heart of the wooer is warm, but warmer the heart of the wooing
And up from the pit where these shiver, and up from the heights
where those shine,
Twin voices and shadows swim star-ward, and the essence of life is divine.

Serious Affair In Circleville

That White Slavery exists in the larger cities, has been known for some time, but that a successfully conducted white slave prison could be conducted in a small town like Circleville, is hardly to be believed,
yet it is true, nevertheless.

About ten days ago a young girl
ran into the Circleville police station
and told a tale which made the police think she was out of her head.
However, they proceeded to make some investigations and found that the girl's story was true. They raided
a dive located in a large house
out near the edge of the city, back of the cemetery, and found a regular white slave prison, where eleven young girls has been enticed and kept prisoners. The woman was found to be trafficking in girls with Huntington, Catlettsburg and Parkersburg.

She was tried and Monday was taken to spend the limit in the Columbus work house. The girls were liberated and sent to their homes or otherwise taken care of. Scioto

ARMY HEADS TO RETIRE IN 1913

Seven Brigadier Generals Will Reach Age Limit.

NAVY IS ALSO AFFECTED.

Five Rear Admirals Will Be Mustered
Out During the Year—President Elect
Wilson to Name Majority of Successors in Both Branches.

Washington.—Seven general officers
of the United States army will be retired from active service under the age limit in 1913, and Woodrow Wilson as president will have the naming of the successors to six of the seven. The exception in the list is Brigadier General
James Allen, the chief of the signal corps, whose successor will be the last officer to be named for a brigadier generalship by President Taft. General
Allen will be sixty-four years old
on Feb. 13 next, and already the army
is busy speculating who will succeed
him as the head of that important arm
of the military service.

The other six brigadier generals
whose successors will be named by President Wilson are Walter S. Schuyler, commanding the department of California; Frederick A. Smith, commanding the department of Missouri;
Edgar Z. Steever, commanding the department of Texas; Ralph W. Hoyt, commanding the department of the lakes; William T. Russell, corps of engineers, unassigned, and William H.
Bixby, chief of the corps of engineers.

These commands are among the most important in the gift of the war department.

The greatest interest centers around General Allen's successor as chief of the signal corps. The retirement of General Allen is a matter of great regret in the war department, for under

REAR ADMIRAL HUGO OSTERHAUS.

him the signal corps has been developed into one of the most efficient branches of the service. Under him
the aviation arm was developed, and there is no officer in any army more familiar with the needs of the air man.

Among the officers whose names have been mentioned as the successor of General Allen are Colonel George P.
Scriven, Lieutenant Colonel William A.
Glassford and Major Samuel Reber.
Colonel Scriven was formerly chief signal officer on Governors Island, a position now held by Major Reber.

The first general officer to be retired in the Wilson administration will be General Schuyler, who will reach the age limit on April 26 next. After General Schuyler comes General Smith,
who will be sixty-four years old on May 15.

General Steever follows General
Smith. He will reach his retiring birthday on Aug. 20. At present General Steever is handling the border situation along the Rio Grande, and he has made himself one of the most popular officers ever sent to Texas for duty.

The next vacancy will be on Oct. 9,
when General Hoyt retires. Two days later General Russell will be retired,
and then on Dec. 27 General Bixby, the present chief of the corps of engineers,
will be placed on the retired list.

As in the army, so the navy in 1913
will see the retirement under age limit
of some of its best known officers.

Five rear admirals, one of them the present commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, are among them. First of the five to reach sixty-two years, the retiring age, will be Joseph B. Murdock, until recently commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet. Admiral Murdock retires on Feb. 13 and will be followed on March 7 by Albert B. Willits, at present in charge of the navy
yards. In March Albert Mertz retires, and then on June 15 comes the birthday of the best known of the officers who retire from duty in 1913, Hugo Osterhaus, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet. Admiral Osterhaus will relinquish the command of the fleet to Charles J. Badger. On June 28 Rear Admiral George R. Ransom retires and on Oct. 10 Rear Admiral Aaron Ward, who until a few weeks ago was in command of the first, or Dreadnought,
division of the Atlantic fleet.

OVER 8,000 DIVORCES IN OHIO LAST YEAR

Eight thousand suits for divorce
were filed in the courts of Ohio in the year ending January 1. In the same time there was a decrease of 5 per cent in the number of marriages.

Such is the story revealed in the compilation of court statistics at the office of Charles H. Graves, secretary of state. In the past year the marriages decreased as compared with the previous year, there being 43,357 as against 45,294, the previous year. There were 8,000 suits for divorce as against 7,979 the preceding year. There were granted
5,695 divorces as compared with 5,521 the preceding year. There were 2,442 refused and 6,864 were pending in the courts. Drunkenness was pleaded in 965 cases, infidelity
in 1,572, and abandonment and cruelty in 5,126. The figures show that one marriage in every five is a failure and lands the parties in the divorce court.

Only one-third of the prosecutions undertaken in the state courts were successful, but the number of people indicted shows an increase. There were 3,121 indictments as against 3,064 for the preceding year. There were 1,316 convictions as against 1, 263. The number of murders grew from 115 to 135 and manslaughter
cases increased from 52 to 88. Cuyahoga county holds the record for the record for the year with 16 murders,
but Hamilton county is close with 14.

There were 3,258 crimes against property with 1,377 convictions.
There were 71 arson cases, 867 burglaries and 467 people arrested for embezzlement.

Prosecutions for all other laws
dropped from 5,844 to 3,720 and convictions from 2,711 to 887. These figures showing the failure to enforce the law or the arrest of the wrong parties caused much comment. They will be employed in the state campaign for the better methods of court
and legal procedure.

Fewer people were confined in the jails, the number being 18,874 as compared with 19,456, but the cost
of keeping them was much heavier,
rising from $158,121 to $185,424.

There were 3,313 inquests held by
coroners in cases of violent deaths.
There are pending in the courts
41,594 cases awaiting trial. There were 36,960 during the year, that being a decrease of over 2,000. The number of cases decided by courts
was 36,234, of which number 1,809

were taken to the circuit court for review. The circuit courts decided 1, 697 cases, of which number 358 were taken to the supreme court.

There were sales of farm lands aggregating 1,245,810 acres, while 49, 795 city lots changed hands. The number of real estate sales were 75, 881, which was a drop of 16,000
compared with the preceding year.

In paying off mortgages the farmers and real estate owners cancelled 19,752, amounting to $34, 890,086.—Exchange.

Captain Hastings Takes Charge of Boys' Industrial School.
Lancaster, O., Jan. 16.—Captain R. U. Hastings, successor to Major F. C. Gerlach as superintendent of the Boys' Industrial school, assumed charge of the institution today.
"I expect to use common sense in governing the institution," declared Captain Hastings, when asked as to whether he would introduce corporal punishment in order to restore discipline. "The board of administration gives me authority to use whatever means may be necessary, but I do not favor corporal punishment and will not use the paddle unless it is absolutely necessary."

GREEK VESSEL RIDDLED

Sent to the Bottom by Turkish Cruiser Made in America.
Athens, Jan. 16.—The Turkish cruiser Medjidie sailed out of the Dardanelles in the fog and off Syria attacked and sunk the Greek merchantman Macedonia, which had been armed by the Greek government as a transport. The Medjidie then sailed to the eastward. The Greek fleet has been warned to intercept her. The Medjidie, which was built by the Cramps of Philadelphia, bombarded the magazine at Syria without effect, but partly wrecked the electric plant and as a result the town is in darkness. Two men working on the electric plant were killed.

SUGAR MEN HEARD

Head of American Company Suggests Moderate Reduction in Tariff.
Washington, Jan. 16.—Sugar refiners, beet sugar men, California wine producers, mineral water importers and others descended in force on the house committee on ways and means to fight out the tariff issue.
Nothing in the committee's examination of the varying shades of sugar-rate views indicated any weakening of the Democratic tentative plan for presenting another free sugar bill for action by the house at the coming extra session of congress.
Some of the leading men in the sugar industry were present. Edward H. Atkins, the vice president and acting head of the American Sugar Refining company, proposed a moderate reduction in the sugar tariff.

To The Waste Paper Basket With Bill

ROOT'S BILL DOOMED

Congress Will Not Repeal Any Part of the Canal Act.
Washington, Jan. 16.—The fact that Senator Root will next week urge the passage of his bill repealing the provision of the Panama canal act which grants free passage to American ships engaged in coastwise trade will not alter the course of the department of state in its exchange of notes with Great Britain relative to the protest against the canal tolls act made by that government. No one could be found at the state department of the opinion that Senator Root is helping matters any by introducing such a bill. The state department is now engaged in defending the very piece of legislation which Senator Root seeks to have repealed.
There is thought to be no reason for believing that the senator will succeed in inducing the senate, much less the house, to repeal any portion of the Panama canal act.

The Dries Lose Out By A Hair

maintained that was merely incidental to home rule.
Senator McDermott of Trumbull is drafting a bill designed to prevent cold storage houses cornering food supplies. His method is to make the penalties so severe that the profits would not warrant the risk of being convicted.
Representative Collins from Stark county introduced a bill providing a minimum sentence of three years in the penitentiary and a fine of not less than $500 for persons who combine to control the supply or prevent competition in the sale of butter, eggs, flour, meat or vegetables.

For Election of Senators.

The house, 114 to 9, ratified the proposed amendment to the federal constitution providing for the direct election of United States senators. Representative Robert Black of Cincinnati said word had been received from Speaker Champ Clark and the president pro tem. of the United States senate that the proposal had been properly passed in congress, despite the contrary statement of Georgia's governor.

Senator Hudson introduced a resolution asking the Ohio congressional delegation to urge a national highway system. He points out that $592,395,000 has been spent for rivers and harbors alone since 1875, and he believes the 440,000 miles of roads in the states are as justly entitled to such an outlay.

Representative Harmon of Hamilton county strikes at the opium evil with a bill providing a fine of not above $500 or imprisonment in the county jail not more than three months, or both, for those who smoke the drug.

Representative Brown of Union introduced a bill forbidding the importation of cattle into Ohio unless accompanied with certificates that they have been subjected to the tuberculin test six months before and were found uninfected.

Among other bills introduced were: To compel streetcars to have vestibules enclosing motormen during the whole year; to allow county commissioners to provide public comfort stations; to require the two-platoon 12-hour shift in all city fire departments under civil service; to remove public officials by judicial process; to prevent advertising to cure private diseases.

Tillman Would Hang Him.
Washington, Jan. 16.—Several Democrats commented on the alleged depressive effect which President-elect Wilson's Trenton speech had on the business and investment world. "I would like to hang any scoundrel who would try to start a panic," declared Senator Tillman of South Carolina. "The Democrats will not scare worth a straw."

PRIZE ESSAY WRITTEN BY A FARMER BOY

A Highland county lad who won the prize for an essay written on "Why a Boy Should Remain on the Farm," gives his reasons as follows:
"There are three phases of human nature, the physical, mental and moral. All are necessary for a good useful and happy life. Therefore when choosing our occupation we should consider these first.

"The farmer is stronger and has much better health than the city man, but why? Because the farmer lives in the open air and eats pure wholesome food, while the city man lives in a smoky impure air, works in a closed building and eats impure food. Nowadays any enterprising, ambitious farmer can have modern improvements in his home without the disadvantages of the city. As health is the most valuable of possessions, we should consider it above all other things. So much for the farm.

It had always been thought the farmer had little opportunity to develop his mental faculties, but because of good health he always has a clear mind and many of our most illustrious have come from the farm. Time was when the farmer had no leisure for reading and little to read. Now he usually has more time than the city man, besides good literature is so cheap that one can become well educated in farming easier than in any other profession. With good brains and the Department of Agriculture many farmers have become wealthy, and any boy can do as much if he improves his opportunities, uses his brains and as much perseverance as he would have to use in some city occupation. Means of traveling and schools are now such that the farmer boy has as good a chance to get an education as the city boy and quite often outstrips the city boy in his studies.

In morals the farm boy generally is far ahead of the town boy. The gaudy pleasures of town are not real and one is thrown in contact with the worst of immoralities. The country church needs the boys and the best way to shun evil is to shun temptations of it. There is nothing equal to the joy which comes with contact with nature as on the farm.

Seeing that the farm is the best place to live, let us compare the chances on the farm and in the city. The farm greatly needs men. Labor receives good remuneration on the farm, but in the cities thousands are out of work and sometimes starving, and are none too well kept when they have work. Cities overflow with educated men of the highest talent and there is such a scramble for employment that the inexperienced country boy really has little chance. On the other hand farming as a science is opening up a new field demanding thousands of men who are now receiving large salaries.

Tables have turned. Now farming is the greatest of all industries and is honored. So is it any wonder that the great men of our time are advising the boys and especially those who live on farms, to become farmers.

I am sixteen years old and a sophomore in our High School.

I have lived on a farm all of my life.

Changes Urged In Parcel Post

New York, Jan. 15.—The Merchants' Protective association today invested other commercial organizations of New York and shippers of merchandise generally to join with it in urging upon Postmaster General Hitchcock several changes in the parcel post regulations, which, if adopted, its officers believe will result in a large saving annually to shippers of the country.

A committee appointed by the association reports that it finds that the postmaster general has the power under the parcel post law to put into effect rules whereby the consignee may be made to pay the expense of postage and possibly the insurance; that a receipt may be obtained from the postoffice department by the shipper; that the right of stoppage in transit may be reserved to the shipper, and that a greater amount of insurance than the $500 now permitted may be allowed.

A meeting of the representatives of the various commercial organizations of the city will be held Jan. 21, when recommendations urging that these changes in the regulations be made probably will be adopted.

Free Lectures On Good Roads

A 2-weeks' lecture course on road construction & maintenance is to be given at the Ohio State University, from February 24 to March 8. The course will consist of thirty-five or forty lectures with laboratory demonstration and inspection trips. Prominent and experienced engineers and experts from various parts of the country will be secured to lecture. Their work will be supplemented by engineers from the State Highway Department and the University professors. The course will be free to all, as the Ohio Good Roads Federation has generously provided the money for this initial step in a work that it is hoped will become a permanent feature. The University is asking the state legislature to provide money for extension work in highway engineering in order to carry this work into the counties, just as the gospel of better farming is now being preached through the state by the agricultural college. When interviewed regarding this work F. H. Eno, Professor of Civil Engineering, said, "If Ohio is to expend fifty or a hundred million dollars upon good roads during the next fifteen or twenty years, the importance of efficiency and economy in highway construction must be apparent to all, hence the necessity of better and broader education in highway construction and maintenance. If the University can aid in a better understanding of how to do the work, this is a duty it owes to the state and is a duty which it is willing and anxious to discharge. It seeks to do this through these winter and extension courses. The civilization of a commonwealth can always be measured by the extent and character of its good roads. Education, civilization and good roads are traveling companions."

To Restock Country With Game Birds

English pheasants and wild mallard ducks have recently been sent to all parts of the United States by the American Game Protective and Propagation association according to an announcement just made at its offices, 111 Broadway, New York. The birds were distributed freely to members of the association who agreed to protect them.

These shipments are the first to be made in accordance with a plan for re-stocking the country with game through the establishment of sanctuaries on which birds can increase unmolested. The overflow from these sanctuaries will provide shooting on contiguous lands. With the aid of its members the association hopes to start such refuges in every community by supplying the birds to stock them.

Although pheasants and mallard ducks were reared last summer in sufficient numbers for distribution, experiments with quail, ruffed grouse, wild turkeys, wood ducks, and Canada geese proved very satisfactory and resulted in a supply of these birds from which is hoped that enough can be raised next year to warrant sending them out. Especial attention is being given to the native upland birds, and if success with quail and grouse continues, they will in time entirely supplant the English pheasants at the association's farm.

Rural Postal Business Increasing

Nine years ago the first of last October a rural free delivery mail route leading out of from Caldwell, Ohio, was established. The route was 24 miles long. During the first month 950 pieces of mail were distributed, including one daily paper. Nine years after, in October of this year, over 6,000 pieces of mail were distributed, though the length of the route remained the same as when first established. The one daily paper has increased to 75. The first month two money orders were bought by patrons of the route. This year during the corresponding month 78 were purchased. In regard to agricultural papers, the carrier says he believes there are 25 now where there was one then. In all ten different agricultural papers are distributed over the route. One of these has 60 subscribers. It is evident that the reading habit in rural sections is rapidly growing.

DANGEROUS BLAZE IN MILLEDGEVILLE

Barn of J. L. Kelley Destroyed By Flames Last Night, and Work of Incendiary Is Suspected--The Third Mysterious Blaze During Past Several Months--Rain and Work of Fire-fighters Save Adjoining Buildings.

Milledgeville experienced another fire about nine o'clock Wednesday night, when a barn belonging to J. L. Kelley, barber of that place, burned to the ground, entailing a loss of some $300 with about $125 insurance.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, and indications are that it was of incendiary origin, as there had been no one about the barn for some three hours, and the roof being metal there was no danger of sparks from a passing train causing the blaze.

When the alarm spread, the fire-fighters hurried to the barn, and saved a horse and buggy belonging to Mr. Kelley, but everything else in the structure perished.

It required the unceasing strenuous efforts of the fire fighters to prevent the flames from spreading to the Giddings elevator some 50 feet distant, and to Mr. Kelley's residence and other buildings in the neighborhood. The falling rain greatly assisted those who fought the fire, and prevented the falling embers from igniting the roofs of the adjoining buildings.

This is the third mysterious fire in Milledgeville during the past several months, the Odd Fellows building burning first, and the C. H. & D. depot later. The three burned structures form an almost perfect triangle in the town.

NO MORE MAIL ON FLOOR.

Receptacle Catches Letters as They Fall Through Slot in Door.

A simple and yet convenient device that will be found useful in offices has been patented by a Boston man. This is a letter catcher that can be affixed to the office door and will catch the mail as it is dropped through the slot. The device is a net fastened to a circular rim of metal or wood. Two hooks, shaped something like the letter "S," hold the frame in place on the door, one end of the hooks holding the rim and the other end passing through the letter drop. With this receptacle in position the mail drops into it instead of on the floor, and is in no danger of being torn when the door is opened in the morning, as is some times the case where there is a large pile of letters lying in the way. Another advantage of the contrivance is that it can be put up or taken down in an instant and does not scratch or deface the door in any way. It need not hang in position during the day, if considered unsightly or in the way, but can be hooked into place when the owner leaves the office at night.—Washington Star.

A Mystery of the Sea.

Of all the secrets held by the flotam and jetsam of many years, none is stranger than that of the beeswax of the Oregon beaches. Long before the white man came to the great Northwest by ship or prairie-schooner, vessels from the Orient had skirted the coast. Bits of wreckage have told the story of Chinese junks gone to pieces on the shore, but the most curious evidence of this Eastern traffic has been found on the Oregon coast, south of the Columbia River. Mr. Clarke gives an account of this treasure-trove in his "Pioneer Days."

When Lewis and Clark made their famous expedition, they learned that the native Indians of Oregon had for many years found lumps of beeswax on the sandy shores.

Beeswax is practically indestructible in water, but these pieces had pounded in the surf until they were black and battered almost beyond recognition.

In 1814 one Henry, engaged in the fur-trade, wrote an account of finding masses of this wax. The pieces were scattered over a wide stretch of coast, and were now covered, now uncovered by the blowing sand. Some of the lumps were softened into all shapes and sizes by the heat of the sun, and bleached nearly white. Others were square, and stamped with strange characters.

In 1895 a Mr. Howell, walking on the beach, saw something exposed in the sand. It proved to be the corner of some large squares of beeswax weighing several tons. Many smaller blocks were also found, all bearing the stamped letters I H S. Besides these squares of wax quantities of large candles were discovered. In looking up the matter, it was learned that as far back as records ran these tapers had been found with the wax on the shore.

Of course the explanation may be that some Oriental ship bearing church supplies for a mission farther south went to pieces on the Oregon coast many, many years ago; but what should a ship bound for Mexico or South America be doing so far north, and what use could any mission have for such an enormous quantity of wax?

Literature as a Last Resort.

A novelist who lives near Indianapolis once engaged an individual who claimed to be a gardener. That this claim was without basis of fact was soon made evident to the employer, for the man proved well-nigh useless—so useless, in fact, that it became necessary to discharge him.

The man took his dismissal with such jaunty indifference that the novelist was somewhat nettled. "You seem rather pleased than otherwise," said he to the man.

"Oh, I ain't worryin'," was the prompt response.

"Indeed! Perhaps you won't do so well as you think. May I venture to inquire what you have in view?"

"Well," answered the gardener, "if the worst comes to the worst, I may take up writin' books. Sence I've been here I've found out it don't take such an awfully bright man as I used to think it did."—Lippincott's.

WAS A POISONER BY PROFESSION

Remarkable Confession of Guilt at Murder Trial in Russia

ADMITTED VICTIMS NUMBER 40

Dr. Pantchenko Reasserts that He Was Hired by Count de Lassy to Kill Count Bouturlin—Used Cholera and Diphtheria Bacilli.

St. Petersburg, Russia.—At the trial for murder of Count O'Brien de Lassy and the notorious poisoner, Dr. Pantchenko, the latter being called upon to plead a second time, pleaded guilty as before.

The count was accused of having employed the doctor to murder his brother-in-law, Count Vassili Bouturlin, the heir to estates of an estimated value of $3,500,000, in order that the property might be inherited by

Countess de Lassy. Pantchenko confessed his guilt, but set up the defense that he committed the crime while under the hypnotic influence of the count. As the trial progressed he wavered in matters of detail, and his lawyers were quick to strengthen his original defense by declaring to the court that their client was still under the influence of the count to such an extent that he was little by little retracting the vital points of his confession.

The public prosecutor took cognizance of the situation, and, after referring to the proximity of the prisoners in the dock, made a motion that the cardinal question of his guilt or innocence be proposed again to Pantchenko. He said that the replies of the poisoner had been unsatisfactory throughout his examination. The court granted the motion, and the formal question of the indictment was again read. Once more the aged physician replied that he was guilty of Bouturlin's death.

The whole empire was interested in the case because of the confession made by Pantchenko. Every mysterious death of recent years was recalled, and there were rumors that the poisoner may have been engaged to cause the death of members of the royal family. He admitted that he made a business of killing for hire heirs, rivals in love, insistent creditors, and, in fact, any "undesirable" person whose enemy was prepared to pay liberally for his sudden taking off.

The poison doctor admitted that he had caused some forty deaths, his fees running as high as $250,000 for a single assassination. His method was to inoculate the patient with cholera bacilli after he had been called to the bedside in his professional capacity. Ordinarily, it was necessary that the proposed victim should be caught while indisposed, and some ruse adopted to bring about Pantchenko's attendance. He was credited with having originated the cholera epidemic of a few years ago.

Pantchenko said that in the case of his latest murder he used diphtheria bacilli. For this he admitted that he was paid by De Lassy, but on the witness stand he failed to repeat his admissions on certain points, for the reason, it was asserted, that he was still under the spell of his co-defendant.

The doctor, seventy years of age, had some standing in society, despite his dual profession. Madame Muraviev, with whom Pantchenko lodged, and to whom he said turned over his earnings, figured in the trial as an accomplice.

Count De Lassy, a young man of Irish descent, is a cousin of Countess

Tarnowska, who was serving a prison term in Italy for complicity in murder of her fiancée, Count Krowski.

Count Bouturlin was twenty years of age, the son of Gen. Bouturlin, whose family is one of the oldest and wealthiest in Russia.

EXPECT SURPLUS OF $40,000,000

Secretary MacVeagh Looks For Good Showing.

CORPORATION TAX TO DO IT

Collections on This Item Alone Will Aggregate $29,000,000 by June 30.
No More Panama Canal Bonds For Sale Until After Inauguration.

Washington.—The prosperity of the country is reflected in the condition of the United States treasury at the close of the calendar year 1912, which also marks the end of the first half of the fiscal year 1913. Secretary MacVeagh estimates that on June 30 next there will be a surplus of $40,000,000 in the ordinary receipts of the government.

At the close of business the ordinary receipts of the government for the first half of the current fiscal year aggregated $340,964,022.45, while the ordinary disbursements during the same period were $349,781,886.25. This represented a deficit of $2,816,963.80 in the ordinary operations of the federal treasury. It is estimated that the corporation tax collections this year will aggregate about $20,000,000, of which about $27,000,000 is yet to be collected. The bulk of this tax will not be paid until June 30 next, but it is just as certain a collection as if it were all in the treasury at this moment and will wipe out the present deficit of $2,816,963 in the ordinary account, leaving a surplus in ordinary receipts and disbursements of about $25,000,000 as of Dec. 30, 1912. During the balance of the fiscal year, it is estimated, the receipts will exceed disbursements by about $15,000,000.

SECRETARY FRANKLIN MACVEAGH.

which, added to the surplus of $25,000,000 already in sight, gives Secretary MacVeagh's estimate of a surplus of $40,000,000 in round numbers on June 30 next.

Before the end of the current fiscal year the disbursements on account of the construction of the Panama canal will be $42,000,000 for the year, all of which is being drawn from the general fund of the treasury without the sale of any Panama canal bonds.

Secretary MacVeagh does not intend to offer any more of these bonds for sale during the balance of the Taft administration. Up to date the government has spent on the canal $138,600,809 from the proceeds of the sale of bonds, including premiums, in addition to $158,217,422 spent on the canal out of the treasury, which may be reimbursed from the proceeds of bonds not yet sold. Under the law the treasury may yet issue Panama canal bonds for $240,569,000.

OLD MAINE'S ENSIGN FOUND.

Recovered Soon After the Ship's Destruction and Mislaid.

Washington.—The navy department received an American flag which was in use as the ensign of the old battleship Maine when she was destroyed in Havana harbor in 1898.

The flag was recovered from the wreck soon after the disaster, but had been lost sight of in the naval station at Key West, Fla. It will be sent to the Naval academy at Annapolis, where it will be placed in Memorial hall, which is becoming the chief repository of articles of interest in United States naval history.

The bunting is almost unrecognizable as a flag.

URGES STATE AID TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

DR. B. R. McCLELLAN.

Chairman of Committee on Public Policy and Legislation of the Ohio State Medical Association.

OVER 35,000 OHIOANS HAVE WHITE PLAGUE

Anti-Tuberculosis Society Gives Startling Figures.

Dr. Robert G. Paterson of Columbus, executive secretary of the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, is preparing some interesting statistics to present to members of the legislature to show them the grip of the "Great White Plague" in Ohio.

He will emphasize two points—that the spread of the disease has reached terrifying proportions in this state, and that Ohio is behind other great states in taking steps toward preventing it and caring for the afflicted. As a remedy the anti-tuberculosis volunteer society which he represents will ask the legislature to appropriate $25,000 a year, for two years, to create a state division of tuberculosis under the direction of the state board of health.

Leaders in the anti-tuberculosis campaign estimate that there are at the present time 35,000 cases of tuberculosis in this state, and all agree that this is a low estimate.

Death List Is 35,000.

Exact figures are not obtainable, as previous to August of this year the disease had not been declared reportable by the State Board of Health. The estimate is based by the society upon the rule laid down by Dr. Arthur Newsholme of London, recognized as the world's leading authority on vital statistics, who says that there are at least five cases of tuberculosis for every death, from that disease. For the past three years the tuberculosis death list in Ohio has ranged over 7,000.

"There are likely more cases in the state," Dr. Paterson says. "At least the known number of deaths in recent years is sufficiently large to demand more action by the state. Tuberculosis has become so large a problem that the resources of the state are necessary to properly cope with it."

In pointing out that Ohio is behind other states in caring for those afflicted with the disease, the state society will supply legislators with data showing that the state, district, county and municipal tuberculosis sanatoriums of the state offer a combined accommodation for only 811 patients. At least ten times this many should be provided, for experts say.

Should Arouse Public.

Another and significant fact to be pointed out will be that even the present small hospitals are not being filled to their capacities. Dr. Paterson declares that this is due to the fact that the people have not been properly educated as to the necessity of segregation and proper treatment of the disease.

"Until the public is aroused and the persons afflicted with the disease are taught how to care for themselves and protect the health of others, even the present hospital equipment will not be fully utilized," the secretary says. "The state should conduct a campaign of education. When the general public becomes aware of the necessity of scientific treatment of all cases the hospitals will be filled and more will be built readily."

He becomes aware of the necessity of scientific treatment of all cases the hospitals will be filled and more will be built readily."

New York "Shows Us Up."

In contrast to Ohio the white plague fighters point to New York city where the tuberculosis sanatoriums already accommodate 3,500 cases and where their facilities are being extended to care for 1,700 more.

Educational campaigns have been waged there for years instructing the people in the simple methods of preventing and treating the disease, and the hospitals are utilized. As a direct result the city has cut its tuberculosis death rate in half 30 years.

CARE OF STORE FIXTURES.

Advantages of a Coat of Lacquer on Brass Work.

Although brass fixtures when new have a fine coat of lacquer to keep them from tarnishing, their protecting layer soon disappears before the attacks of the cleaner. Instead of wrestling then with the problem of keeping the unprotected brass bright another coat of lacquer can be put on.

Instead of sending the fixtures to the factory for this purpose solve the problem for yourself by applying the following solution: Gum shellac dissolved in alcohol makes a thin varnish which is applied with a small brush; ten cents worth of shellac is enough and enough alcohol to make it thin. This is enough to cover many fixtures and the work can be done in less than an hour.

To prevent your nickel fixtures from rusting, especially when you store them in the basement, says the Shoe Retailer, go over them with a cloth dampened with linseed oil, wrap the nickel plated parts in paper. When you next use your fixtures you will not have any rust to contend with.

Many metal stands have glass tops. These tops, from frequent handling, get quite dull in appearance. To bring back the original sparkle and crystal effect to the glass all you need to do is to cover the glass with a coating of whiting dissolved in water and ammonia. When dry rub briskly with dry cheesecloth and you will have a beautifully polished glass top.

How Eskimo Women Die.

On her first entrance to her new hut of snow an Eskimo woman is buoyed by hope of welcoming a son. What of her last incoming to those narrow confines? She knows that the medicine man has decided that her sickness is mortal when she is laid upon her bed of snow. She gazes upon the feebly burning lamp beside her; upon food and drink set close at her hand. She sees her loved ones pass out of the doorway that needs no tunnel entrance to keep chill airs away, for presently the door is sealed with snow. The chill of death pierces through her enveloping furs. Her tomb ensures that no long tarrying will be hers. The soul, companioning with her, may refresh itself with food, but starving and freezing her feeble body will witness even that soul's departure and know that its hour has come to perish alone.—Harper's Bazar.

FISH DIET AND CANCER.

Dr. Jonathan Hutchinson, a British medical investigator of renown, has long insisted that cancer originates from a fish diet. President Taft now asks Congress to appropriate $50,000 for the erection and equipment of laboratories to test this theory. That fish are afflicted with a malady resembling cancer seems to be generally believed.

Slim Chances for Her.

A missionary who was making his way through a backwoods region came upon an old woman sitting outside a cabin. He entered upon a religious talk and finally asked her if she didn't know there was a day of judgment coming.

"Why, no," said the old lady. "I hadn't heard o' that. Won't there be more'n one day?"

"No, my friend; only one day," was the reply.

"Well, then," she mused, "I don't reckon I can get to go, for we're only got one mule, and John always has to go everywhere first."—National Monthly.

MEXICAN REBELS ARE AGAIN ACTIVE

REBEL ATTACK FEARED

Gunboat Denver Ordered to Mexican Port to Protect Americans.

Washington, Jan. 16. — To protect American interests at Acapulco in the attack on the city threatened by Mexican rebels, the navy department ordered the gunboat Denver, stationed at San Diego, Cal., to proceed at once to the scene of trouble.

The Denver left San Diego immediately and is expected to arrive at Acapulco by Friday. She carries 276 bluejackets. The Denver's men will be held in readiness for immediate landing at Acapulco.

The state department is not alarmed at the situation and agreed to the sending of the Denver simply as a matter of precaution, it was stated.

TAFT PASSES UP THE KISSING STUNT.

Washington, Jan. 16. — Since President Taft kept an engagement the other day with a four-year-old girl who came all the way from Wyoming to kiss him, he has been flooded with requests for similar appointments. These come mostly from mothers of babies or from little girls. It is naively explained in behalf of the president that, although he has established a precedent in the case of the little Wyoming miss, he does not intend to make receptions of that character a part of the White House routine. Letters making this situation clear were addressed to 22 anxious mothers.

Big War Boat Out of Date

The demand for photoplays is practically unlimited. The big film manufacturers are "moving heaven and earth" in their attempts to get enough good plots to supply the ever increasing demand. They are offering $100, and more, for single scenarios or written ideas.

Nearly all the big film companies, the buyers of photoplays, are located in or near NEW YORK CITY. Being right on the spot, and knowing at all times just what sort of plots are wanted by the producers, our SALES DEPARTMENT has a tremendous advantage over agencies situated in distant cities.

We have received many letters from the big film manufacturers, such as VITAGRAPH, EDISON, ESSANAY, LUBIN, SOLAX, IMP, REX, RELIANCE, CHAMPION, MELIES, ETC., urging us to send photoplays to them. We want more writers and we'll gladly teach you the secrets of success.

We are selling photoplays written by people who "never before wrote a line" for publication.

Perhaps we can do the same for you. If you can think of only one good idea every week, and will write it out as directed by us, and it sells for only $25, a low figure.

Removal Sale of Monuments

As I am forced to vacate my present quarters by Feb. 15th, I will offer for sale until that time the largest stock of Granite and Marble Monuments, Markers, Etc., ever carried in stock in this city.

My prices on work which will be sold include all lettering, setting, etc., complete in cemetery, and will be erected as soon as the weather will permit.
